1. You can never have too many white mugs. I absolutely love my Rae Dunn mugs (find them at Home Goods and TJ Maxx stores). $5.00
2. Hario V60 pour over filter, is my personal favorite: works great, is inexpensive and makes awesome coffee. I bought it few years ago and haven't put it away since. $6.00
3. Handmade coffee scrub. A perfect stocking stuffer. $7.00
4. Another favorite: Silo coffee canister (Crate&Barrel). $8.00

1. In less practical but adorable gifts I'd go with this patent print. $15.00 +
2. For those who enjoy reading coffee books, I recommend "The World Atlas of Coffee". $24.59
3. A beautifully crafted leather mason jar cozy. $25.00

4. I think everyone could use a good Bialetti Moka pot. They are just so classic and useful. $26.00

under $50

1. Specialty coffee variety pack. I think coffee is an awesome gift. I suggest LaColombe brew packs, Stumptown blend trio, Verve, Blue Bottle... $40.00 +

2. R2-D2 French Press. Another unique gift. Available for pre-order for $39.99.

3. Chemex, the glass brewer we see in almost every picture on Instagram, celebrates the art of hand crafted coffee. Such a win. $45.00

4. If you know someone who is a Hario V60 fan, I would definitely suggest this copper Hario V60 dripper. $50.00

$100 +

1. I don't know one person who wouldn't love to get a Keurig for Christmas. With this smallest Keurig 2.0 K250 you don't have to break the bank. $129.00
2. I don't think you can go wrong gifting an espresso machine. The Nespresso Vertuoline is convenient to use and can do both: espresso and brewed coffee. $160.00
3. I've been very happy with the Baratza Encore coffee grinder I've invested in. It has 40 grind settings and easily switches between fine and coarse grind. $129.00
4. Bonavita SCAA certified brewer. This thing is cool. It brews within the Specialty Coffee Association of America Gold cup recommendations (optimal timing, extraction, volume, temperature). It's like a manual pour over, but as a brewer. $120.00
5. Just like Bonavita, the OXO On Barista Brain coffee maker brews within the Specialty Coffee Association of America Gold cup recommendations (SCAA certified). But OXO gives you more control and better quality (you can set the number of cups, clock and auto ON). $199.00

Happy Shopping!
